第二节（20分）

范文：

Dear Jim,

Great to hear from you! Here's an idea for your activity: a flower seed-planting event.

Start by inviting a local farmer to give a short talk on basic gardening techniques. Afterward, provide participants with flower seeds and schedule a day to plant them in a designated area on campus. To make it meaningful, give each student a card titled "A Message to Spring," where they can write down their personal goals for the upcoming season.

This activity is both fun and symbolic. The flowers will open in spring, brightening the campus, while the act of planting seeds represents hope and personal growth. It's a wonderful way to connect personal development with the season of renewal.

Hope this helps, and good luck with your activity.

Yours,

Li Hua
